THE MUTINY ON AN ITALIAN BARK. INVESTIGATION BY THE CONSUL-ADDITIONAL DE-

TAILS. The Italian Consul began yesterday his investigation into the mutiny on board the bark Francisco Donavare. The entire crew of the vessel had been summoned to the consulate, and all, including the wounded men. were present. The examinations were held in privates each person being introduced separately and examined concerning the trans action. The captain and two or three of the crew were examined yesterday and the rest will be questioned to-day and succeeding days. The consul was unwilling to allow the particular facts developed to be made public before the conclusion of the examinations, but stated that in general they agreed with the statements that have appeared in the

Besides what has already been published in THI TEIBUNE the following facts were ascertained. The bark is the property of Andreas Donavaro, a wealthy Italian merchant, who is accustomed to send vessels to this country in ballast and have them obtain here a cargo of grain or other produce for Italy. The captain, Stephano Ferrando, has been for several years in command of the same vessel and has in his crew some men who have been with him several voyages. He is spoken of as kind but tirm, and he speaks and moves in a quick and decided way. The mutineers, Irene and Aredando, had been treated by him with especial kindness, having been allowed to remain on board at Savona, while the rest of the crew were turned away. The object which they had in view was to obtain the money which they supposed was on board, to pay for the return cargo. They were so excited by the thought of this expected booty that they attempted alone to overpower and murder a crew of about fitteen men. During the contest for the control of the vessel the crew showed no bravery, and had it not been for the firmness of the captain the purposes of the matineers might have been accomplished. It they had been successini their design was to have taken possession of the vessel, to have secured the money, and handed if possible on one of the Antilles. There was in reality little money on board the vessel on the voyage to America, probably not over $200. The mate and boy who were wounded in the encounter have both recovered sufficiently to go about. The crew are kept, for the present, upon the vessel on the voyage to America, probably not over $200. The mate and boy who were wounded in the encounter have both recovered sufficiently to go about. The ferew are kept, for the present, upon the vessel, but the captain is allowed to land and go about freely. Unlied States District-Atlorney Tenny, of Brosklyn, was asked whether the Government would be represented at the exammation before the consul. He said that he had looked over the treaty of the United States with Italy and found that by its provisions the consuls and consular agents of each country have exciusive charge of the internal order of the merchan to this country in ballast and have them obtain was resumed vesterday in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Newark. Thomas Courtney was recalled, and testified to the movements of the Lindin Washington and Richmond in January, 1879. He identified a draft in Edward Lindner's printed the blank drafts. He could not swear postrely that it was Edward Lindner's handwriting. The defence called James A. Hedden, cashier of the First National Bank. Several forged checks were down to him, and he said that in his epinion the handwriting on the checks was not made by the same person. On cross-examination, the witness stated that persons who force checks sometimes write several different hands. He detected a simplarity between the figures contained in letters of Charles Lindner and on one of the stubs of a checkbook of the Merchants' National Bank of Cleveland.

The defence endeavored to introduce testimony showing that a forged check had been passed on James Carroll similar to that on Bailey & Allen, and by a person other than the defendant. The Court excluded the evidence and an exception was taken. V. A. Brintinghoffer testified that Lindner was not the man who passed a forged check in his store. Charles Lindner, the defendant, testified in his own behalf. He was thirty years old, he said, was married, and lived in Richmond, Va. He never saw the Bailey & Allen check, for the forgery of which he had been indicted. He denied that the value offered in evidence belonged to him. The defendant gave an account of his career as a cotton planter, stock speciator and cigar dealer, but denied any knowledge of a participation in the crime of which he is charged. The Gossweiler check he signed in payment for cigars. He had never entered into any negotiation with Courtney to pass forged paper. On cross-examination he was shown a number of drafts taken from the value, and testified that he had never seen them before their production in court. He went into further details of his past history, showing that he had been in various basinesses in some of the principal cities North and South.

when he went to the dock he fell overboard and was rescued by some friends. He started home, was arrested on the way, and locked in a cell all night in his wet clothes. Yesterday morning, when taken out of the cell, on saying that he was an Englishman, he was seized by the hair, he says, and hurled four feet away, by an officer in uniform.

A reporter visited the Seventh Precinct and saw the sergeant in charge, but was unable to find the one who was on duty Thursday night. Officer Mc-Sweeney, who made the arrest, stated that he discovered Brown about 2 o'clock yesterday morning leaning against an awning-post at Monroe and Catherine-sts., and noticing be had no hat and was shivering, he asked Brown for his name and his address but received no reply. He took him by the arm and found his coat was frozen, but thought he might have falleu in the street. THE STRUGGLE IN CUBA.

VIEWS OF THE REVOLUTIONISTS -EFFECT OF THE RECENT ACTION OF THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT. General Calixto Garcia Yuighez, who is connected with the revolution in Caba, is still in this city. He recently returned from Jamaica and Key West. where he represented the Guban Revolutionary Committee organised here about a year ago for the purpose of continuing the war of independence. He also took an active part in the last revolution in Cuba, in which he was taken prisoner and sent to Spain. About a year and a half ago he returned to this country, after baying been retained in prison four years. Prominent revolutionists say that General Garcia will probably become the head of the revolutionary government. A TRIBUNE reporter called upon him yesterday to learn what effect the passage of the bill abolishing slavery in Cuba, by tion.

"It will not change the situation of affairs at all," replied General Garcia to a question; "the passage of the bill is only a trick to continue slavery there ten years longer. Besides, in 1870, a bill proposed by Moret, the Colonial Secretary, providing for the gradual abolition of slavery by making all children born after the passage of the act free, and bestowing freedom upon all attaining the age of sixty years, was passed by both the Senate and Cortez, which, in practice, has been completely ignored. We have no more reason to expect that they will act under this law than under the other. But the movement would not be arrested by a better bill, as we are not merely fighting to liberate the slaves but to establish the independence of Cuba."

"Why did so many of the West India members abstain from voting!"

"Because the bill was not liberal enough. The Cuban Senators voted against the bill because they are themselves slave owners."

"Will the slaves themselves be influenced by it in any degree!"

"I think not. If the law was put into practice it would mean ten long years more of servitude. This

"I think not. If the law was put into practice it would mean ten long years more of servitude. This is the period of life for the laboring man, and a generation would pass away before its tesults would be felt. Meanwhile, the owners would endeavor to get all the work out of them possible as a compensation for letting them go free."

"Is the movement for independence gaining ground, and are hopes entertained of its ultimate success?"

ground, and are hopes entertained of its ultimate success?

"It is gaining every day. At present the great difficulty is that the different sections are not united. When the revolutionists gain more strength and are united under one leader the majority of the slaves will take up arms. By the time this is don the party will be strong enough to sustain itself against the Spanish government. Steps will soon be taken for establishing a revolutionary government. Generals Vicente Garcia, Maximo Gomez. Autonio Marcio and Carlos Roloff, all of whom took part in the last revolution, will sail for Cuba at an early day. Reinforcements, arms and ammunition will also be sent. Should the war prove successful, and an independent government be established, it will be similar in form to that of the United States."

General Roloff stated yesterday that Commissioner Major Gutierrez was expected to come stead from General Bentez and bring official reports of the present state of affairs in Cuba.

THE FALL IN GAS STOCKS.

RUMORED EXPLANATIONS-REASONS GIVEN BY THE OFFICERS OF THE C. MPANIES. There has been a marked decline in the price of gas stocks within the past few months. These were for many years held as investments, the fluctuations being small. Large blocks of these stocks are said to be held by wealthy persons. Within a few weeks the prices of the stocks have fallen from 10 to 20 per cent. The active competition between the companies has resulted in large reductions in the price of gas. Large consumers are now supplied at 75 cent a thousand feet. Families and those who use smaller quantities pay a larger price; but it is said on good authority that the companies do not realize an average price of more than $1 a thousand feet, which, it is claimed, does not repay the cost of pro of the large companies have failed to pay dividends to their stockholders. None of the New-York companies have paid dividends since August 1, when the Metropolitan paid its regular semi-annual dividend. The Mutual has passed since then one quarterly dividend, and the Municipal, which has also paid its dividend quarterly, paid its latest one in June. The New-York Company omitted to de clare its semi-annual dividend payable in Novem-

Lowering the price of gas had prevented the payment of dividends.

The newspaper articles on Edison's electric light had frightened some thaid holders. The heaviest stockholders in the company were not frightened, however. They had yet to see Mr. Edison's invention put to a practical test, nor did they be leve that his electric light could successfully compete with gas. There had been no attempt made to consolidate the New-York companies similar to those in Brooklyn, nor had be heard the matter mentioned by the representatives of the companies. There was an effort made sometime ago to have the various companies agree on a uniform rate for gas, but this had fallen through and nothing further had been done.

EDWARD SCANNELL STILL HIDING.

Edward Scannell, who shot and seriously injured Henry Wilson in a Third-ave, saloon on Wednesday morning, had not been arrested up to a late hour last evening. It is stated, by persons who have seen Scannell since the affray, that he claims to have shot Wilson in self-defence. His version of the affair is that Wilson, after striking him in the the affair is that Wilson, after striking him in the face and knocking out two of his teeth, kicked him under the chin. In proof of this he exhibits a wound and black and blue marks upon his neck. In the excitement that followed some one caught him by the arm from behind, and thinking that he was about to be attacked he drew his pistol and fired.

Wilson scondition was much more favorable yesterday. He was able to sit up and converse, and is thought to be out of danger. The bridge of his nose is broken and one of the balls yet remains in his face. The other ball, which entered his mouth and broke several teeth, he claims to have spit out before beingitaken to the hospital. The youngs-rbrother of Scannell has called to see Wilson several times and expresses much sorrow over the occurrence. Mrs. Scannell, the mother of Edward, who is eighty-three years of age, is very much prostrated by the affair, and it is feared that she will not recover.

FLOATING A SUNKEN STEAMER.

Information was received at the office of the Coast Wrecking Company yesterday that the steamship Falcon, which was sunk in collision with a schooner off Cove Point, Chesapeake Bay, about six weeks ago, was afloat. The wreckers have been at work since the steamer sank, saving the cargo, and on Thursday last Superintendent I.

J. Merritt, with the steamer Relief and two new large pontoons, left Staten Island for the wreck.
On Christmas morning with the pontoons along-side and everything in readiness, the pumps were started and during the day the steamer was floated and towed to the mouth of the Pauxet River. She will be taken to Baltimore for repairs to-morrow.

The schooner Brookfield with a carge of potatoes from Nova Scotia for this port, which on Sunday night, during a snow storm, went ashore at Hart Island; has been condemned, and with the cargo will prove a total loss. many of those who had voted against clesing complained of the inactivity of the very few members present. About the only thing to which the members paid attention was to the subscription for a Christmas present of $100 to the clerk who conducts the "calls" on the grain floor, and $50 to the "caller" on the provision floor. There were no calls in grain yesterday, and no sales were made at either of the three provision calls. The London markets being closed there were no foreign quotations.

DESPERATE FROM WANT OF FOOD. BURGLARY BY A STARVING MAN-WRETCHED CON-

DITION OF HIS FAMILY. ntly dressed man of middle age was seen to stop before the plumber's shop of James Flemming, No. 26 West Twenty-seventh-st., about 7 o'clock Christmas morning, and break the window and take several brass faucets. He was arrested and taken to the Twenty-ninth Precinct. He said his name was William Smith, and his age forty. Justice Flammer, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, held nim for trial on a charge of burglary, in default of $1,000 bail. At the court Smith said that he lived in a garret at No. 172 Mulberry-st. with wife, who was ill with consumption, and his little boy. He was a carpenter. but out of work, and though he had and his little boy. He was a carpenter, but out of work, and though he had tried repeatedly he had failed to obtain employment of any kind. Neither he nor his family, he said, had had anything to eat for twenty-four hours, and made desperate by his condition, he had broken into the plumber's shop, hoping only to raise money enough upon what he had stolen to obtain food for himself and his starving family. Smith was taken to the Tombs to await trial.

A Tribunk reporter called at No. 172 Mulberryst, yesterday. In a small room on the top floor of a rear tenement-house, the only approach to each story being a narrow, slippery iron stairway on the outside of the building. Smith's wife and boy were found. The room contained a small stove and a few articles of farniture; the walls were whitewashed, but their bareness was partly covered by two prints and a worsted-work motto, "The Lord is my Shepherd." Hanging over the door was a rusty horseshoe. Mrs. Smith, an intelligent woman of middle-age, arose from the bed as the reporter entered, coughing violently. She said that food and fuel had been sent to her by persons connected with the court in which her busband had been tried, and that she was feeling much stronger in consequence. She was a native of Wisconsin, and had been employed as a hat-trummer in this city. "A few years ago," she added, "my husband was taken sick, and I worked and took care of him, and this is what brought us down. Lately he could not get work, and night after night he has walked the floor and cried because there was nothing for us to eat. He never drank nor scolded us. I haven't seen a piece of meat in weeks, and yesterday I and my boy had nothing but a crust of bread. My neighbors are poor, like ourselves, and I couldn't go to them. Christmas merning my husband arose early and went to his mother, in the hope of getting a few pennes, but she must have refused him to cause him to do such an act. I dou't know what we shall do; we owe over two montins' rent and the landlord may turn us out any mome moment. At times I sunce very manner if I should cough my hie out sometimes.

PLANS FOR STREET IMPROVEMENT.

There is a disagreement in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment over the appropriations asked for by the Department of Public Works. Mayor Cooper insists on the Commissioner getting what he asks, which Controller Kelly opposes on the groun that there is not money enough without increasing the taxes too much. Commissioner Campbell's term of office will expire this month, but he says that as soon as the Board of Apportionment will settle just what his department is to get for the next year he what his department is to get for the next year ac will lay out the work. It is probable that the Compussioner will hold over unless the Legislature makes a change in the charter, as now proposed.

Among the projected improvements is that of contonuing the repayement of Centre and other streets so as to make a good thoroughfare from the Metropolitan Hotel to the east side of the City Hall Park, which it is expected will greatly releve Broadway. The repairing of the aqueduct will be continued, and the new high service works will be put in operation, so as greatly to increase the supply of water in the upper part of the city. New hydrants will be pized in parts of the city where most needed, better to profect the city against fire. The sewerage improvements are to be excusive. A large sewer is to be constructed in Fifth-ave. between Fifty-first and Fifty-minth-sis, and one in West at the theoriection of the Health Department. This work is under the direction of the Health Department, the Boulevard is to be extended to the Kingsbridge road, and the Morningside Park is to be completed. Improvements in the construction of Luddow Street Jail are also proposed. Much depends, however, on the amount of money appropriated by the Board of Estimate and Appertionment. will lay out the work. BURNING OF A WRECKED BARK.

Information reached this city yesterday that the Austrian bark Olivo, of Trieste, which sailed from this port on October 27 with 22,000 bushels of wheat for Gibraltar, had been wrecked at sea and the crew landed at Gibraltar by the United States ship Constellation. The Olivo encountered severe weather on November 10, and sprung aleak. The grain, being in bulk, soon choked the pumps, and grain, being in buik, soon choked the pumps, and they became unserviceable. On November 24, while the Constellation was lying-to in a strong gale, the Ohyo was signted making signals, "Immediate assistance wanted."

The Constellation then ran close to the disabled bark and found that her rudder was gone and that she was rapidly sunking. The captain and crew were obliged to jump overboard and swim to the life boats that were lowered. Ensign Reynolds was then ordered to return to the disabled vessel and set her on fire. Because of the violent seas the officer was obliged to jump from his boat to the deck of the Oilvo, and after setting her on fire jumped overboard and swam back to the boat.

Nothing has yet been done about the partly burned paython at Bellevue Hospital. The Commissioners of Charlies and Correction have asked for an appropriation of $25,000 for the purpose of rebuilding it and creeting another on Blackwell's Island. It is thought that their request will be granted. The Tammany General Committee met last night and adopted the report from the Committee on Organization, appointing the primaries for the election of a new General Committee for January 3. The report did not mention any date for primaries in the Thomas G. Mickle, age sixty-five years, of One-hundred-and-fortieth-st. and the Boulevard, was struck by a train on the Hadson River Railroad yesterday morning when crossing the track at One-hundred-and-fortieth-st. Jenks, who gained notoriety during the last Presidential election, yesterday visited the Custom House. Mrs. Jenks called on Collector Merratt for the purpose, she caimed, of gaining his and in transferring her husband from one of the departments at Washington to the New-York customs service. Coroner Richard Flanagan, of the XIIIth District, moved that that district be placed on the same footing as the other districts in the call for the primaries.

The following assignments for the benefit of creditors were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office. Writiam Bemark and Julius Bemark of the firm of Bemark Brothers, to Herrman Moses with preferences for $1,135; Emile Brus to Loms Mathot; David Tischler to Henry Hamel, with preferences for $1,300. Mr. Kelly said he thought it proper to consult the dering primaries there. It was impossible to have fair elections under men who had proved treacherous to the organization. One of the Tammany candidates for Coroner had not only been unfaith for $1,300.

The 1 hirry-fourth-st, branch of the Third-ave, elevated road is rapidly approaching completion. The structure is finished and connections have been made with the main line, and as soon as the terminal station is ready, probably in the latter part of January, the branch will be opened to the travelling making. ful, but had failed to pay his assessment, although well cared for by this organization. Men who had been unfaithful to the organization should have the manliness to leave it without waiting to be put out. The XIIIth District was notrne as managed now. They must have men they could confide in to manage the districts, or the organization would go down.

manage the districts, or the organization would go down.

Coroner Flanagan, who had been attacked by Mr. Kelly, said in reply, that he did not pay his assessment because he could not understand why a candidate for coroner should be assessed $3.500 for an office only paying $5,000 a year. "I was a candidate for Shernii," he said, "and not for Coroner, as Mr. Kelly knows, I could have had the nomination on the Auti-Tammany tacket, but I declined it—not because I thought the chances of election were better on the Tammany tacket. No one thought that who was not over-condident. I declined it because I wished to stack by Tammany Hall. I took my medicine, did not boil, as some persons, do because a tacket was unsatisfactory to me. I think I am as good a Democrat as some who attack me."

Mr. Flanagan's motion was lost, a large majority vofting against it. Ann Jane Beatty tried to stop a fight between Robert Hewitt and Robert Cameron of No. 618 East Sixteenth-st., who were fighting at her house, No. 255 Avenue C., on Christmas morning. She re-ceived a blow on the head from Hewitt that disceived a blew on the head from Hewitt that disabled her. Yesterday the police sent her to Bellevine Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain.

It was reported to the police last evening that Sarah Dulaney, thirty-four years of age, of No. 66 West Fourth-st., had been missing from her home since Monday, when, in the morning, she left home to go to her work at Mrs. Harm's, No. 13 Woosterst. Site is described as being five teet six inches in height, with hight hair and gray eyes, and wearing a black suit of clothes and a brown dolman.

The Orthopædic D spensary and Hospital, at No. 126 East Twenty-math-st., is to benefit by a special entertainment to be given Taesday afteracon next at the Academy of Music. Chaton Hau's "Strategists," Butler's "Humpty Dumpty" Company, Charles Backas in his laughable mittations of actors, and others will give attraction to a performance for an eminently worthy object. The report of the Treasurer was adopted, showing a balance of $843 in the treasury.

After the committee adjourned there was considerable grambling among some of the members. The Committee on Organization has held several long secret sessions recently, and many bitter speeches have been made and much ill feeling has been shown. It is understood that a number of the members will be expelled from the organization, if they do not soon resign.
